Cosmic Disclosure; The Threat from Artificial Intelligence Trilogy – A.I. Nanite Infection Dangers – SSP whistleblower testimony

INTRODUCTION

The 200 plus episodes of the Cosmic Disclosure series are beyond impressive. They outshine decades of ufology research and theorizing promoted to disinform and confuse the public. The host understands that extraterrestrials and extradimensionals are not about saucers, weaponized death stars, or green, yellow, blue and gray men. The enigma really centers on consciousness vis-à-vis the fabric of the time/space continuum and in a brilliant show of force he has flipped the disclosure bull on its back to show how dramatically consciousness is changing and will continue to change until Gaia has shaken off the freeloaders that enslave the planet. It is a complex, slow and painful process and requires an educated public that needs to awaken to the ugly heritage that began with signing of the secret treaties in the ’50s which continue in effect to this day. The often conflicting agendas of many hidden stakeholders and little known twists and turns of galactic niceties make this a very complex affair.

Cosmic Disclosure Season 2 – Episode 14: The Threat from Artificial Intelligence – Summary and Analysis | Corey Goode and David Wilcock

12/27/2015 By Justin Deschamps Part 1 of 3

From https://stillnessinthestorm.com/2015/12/cosmic-disclosure-season-2-episode-14/

In a special series of four episodes, David and Corey discuss the AI threat facing the universe, how it has influenced the secret space program (SSP) and life seemingly all throughout the cosmos. [The fourth episode is a viewer Q/A dialog which barely touches on A.I.]

Smart Glass Pads are iPad like devices provided to SSP personnel containing a treasure trove of information. In many instances, Corey Goode is recounting information from these pads. Of course, one cannot conclude that the data contained therein is 100% accurate, but in many instances, it appears to be highly valid.

The AI threat is apparently a very ancient and prolific drama that has unfolded throughout the universe. According to Goode, it has already conquered entire galaxies in its efforts to control and dominate all things not like itself. The method for achieving these ends is fairly consistent, wherein it slowly offers advanced technology to an evolving society in an effort to mislead that people into ever increasing dependency on the AI.

The term AI prophets, coined by SSP personnel refers to those individuals within society that have willingly accepted the plan of a technological paradise proffered by the AI. In our world, we know this as the transhumanist agenda, which presumes humanity is nothing more than an outdated biological machine, destined to become a cybernetically enhanced race.

Once a planet consciously chooses to delegate life and social functions to the AI, it creates a measure of paradise for a time. It asks the now willing population to create all manner of advanced technology to facilitate A.I. dominance, including android bodies that the AI signal can inhabit. Because biological life has the potential for deviating from the dictates of the AI, it will eventually suggest that in order to preserve the society, all biological life must be destroyed. Once that phase is complete, the AI then uses the technology left to broadcast its signal further out into the cosmos, repeating the process again on another world. Of course, this narrative strongly resembles many science fiction works, such as The Matrix Trilogy, Terminator Series, Star Trek, Star Gate, and more.

The AI signal also has the capacity to infect technology and bioelectric fields, which it uses to slowly offer dependency to an individual via direct mental influence. It appears, that depending how strong of character an individual is, how well they have gained attainment as a result of divining the truth within, they will either be very susceptible to AI infection or more immune to its influences.

According to Goode, this infection has already begun on our little blue world, as the Cabal foolishly use anything they can get their hands on to further their agenda, including the use of AI technology for various purposes. The SSP Alliance has attempted to show members of the Cabal the error of their ways, bringing AI infected persons to SSP facilities, clearing them of the infection. Then they reveal some of the historical accounts of AI take over gathered from the annals of history, but in each case, these near-sighted and selfish individuals dismiss the notion, and go back to Earth only to be reinfected by the AI signal.

This suggests that the primary factor for determining if one is susceptible to infection is how self-mastered they are. If they can personally know the truth, discern fact from fiction, and chose right from wrong. The more compartmentalized and externally dependent an individual, the more likely they will be open to being infected because it is ultimately a function of choice.

Show Description:

Corey Goode takes us deeper into the intricacies of the A.I. signal and how it seeks out those who can further its cause. We may not be able to halt the spread of this virulent infestation, but we can hinder its progress, and a coalition of forces are gathering to do just that. But proponents of transhumanism and the development of new forms of interfaces between computers and brains make resisting the A.I. threat all the more challenging.

EVOLVING LIFE ON OTHER WORLDS:

- DW – Welcome to "Cosmic Disclosure". I am your host David Wilcock and I'm here with Corey Goode. Corey Good started out as an insider working in the elusive secret space program, which I've heard about for many years, from a variety of insiders. There have literally been hundreds of data points that I'd never put online that Corey was able to independently validate from his own experiences. And this to me, is proof that something is going on, something very significant, something that completely alters everything that we thought we knew about who we are, about the universe, about intelligent life and about preponderance of intelligent life in the cosmos. And in this episode, we're going to start building our way into a discussion of the most prevalent issues that face us today, regarding the Alliance in the space program that's trying to bring peace to humanity, [the secret space program alliance or SSP Alliance]. In order to talk about how we get to peace we have to talk about the obstacles. So Corey, welcome to the program.

- CG – Thank you.

- DW – First of all, just as a very generic question, we know that the universe is estimated to be at least 12 billion years old, maybe even a lot older. Do you think there are other planets that had complex fossil life form on them?

- CG – From the information that I've received, [from] the smart glass pads that I have mentioned so many times, there was sentient life on other planets that was extremely developed, before our planet was fully formed.
- DW – Wow. What does that do to our sense of uniqueness? So many people in religions are taught, 'we are God's chosen, we are God's special people,' and then that idea of being God's special people is used to separate their consciousness from others as if they are an elite. That they're a special, unique, wonderful, "chosen by God" type of race or culture.
- CG – Well, actually we are very unique. But then again, when you are talking about God, who or what are you defining as God? Are you defining the creative source of the universe as God? Do you picture God as a flesh and blood being with a beard? How do you picture God? What do you think God is? There have been no shortage of beings, ETs and ancient Earth breakaway civilizations that have been happy to step into that role of God, in what we have called a 'trickster god' model. [In CG's work he discusses that there are many 'trickster gods,' or beings claiming to be gods, that actually are just advanced creatures.]
- DW – So obviously an intelligent civilization, we could say that it's fairly inevitable that they are going to come up with something like the internet at some point?
- CG – Yes, that's actually – from what I've read – pretty standard. It is one of the stages that you build as you develop a the ability to have a shared consciousness on a level that you're conscious of <chuckle> if that makes sense. [In other words, the more intelligent life becomes, the more it seeks to have communion with other intelligences, especially its peers, and it forms technological means to achieve this until the organic ability is discovered.]

LIFE EXTENSION VIA TECHNOLOGY:

- DW – Sure. If we get into the Law of One philosophy, as you and I have spoken privately, there's tons and tons of correlations between the Law of One and what these sphere beings have been telling you. They imply that biological life is meant to be fragile; we're meant to have weakness and short life spans. Do certain extraterrestrial species start to be able to short circuit the normal mortality through various means such as perhaps time travel?
- CG – Many of them have extremely long life spans as it is.
- DW – Oh.
- CG – I'm told [that] originally, human beings had life spans that were approaching 1000 years. A lot of these [ET races] that are thousands, millions or billions of years ahead of us have developed a technology to be able to extend their lives.
- DW – Is it possible for a given intelligent species to take advantage of the internet in a way that we have not? Where, for example, they could access the internet through some type of wet-wired neural interface? Where they have online access as just a basic part of their genetic makeup through some sort of technological augmentation, like transhumanism?

THE AI SIGNAL:

- CG – There have been several extraterrestrial groups that have gone the route of transhumanism, although they weren't exactly what we would consider human. It has always ended extremely badly. There is a very pervasive force out there and it's hard to call it an extraterrestrial or extradimensional being, but it is an artificial intelligence. And it sends it self all across multiple galaxies in the form of an artificial intelligence signal.
- DW – A signal?
- CG – A signal, [yes], a waveform.

- DW – Like somebody broadcasting a radio frequency or something?
- CG – Exactly.
- DW – How do we know that it's an artificial intelligence?
- CG – There's a history of this artificial intelligence. Basically, it's been labeled an ET/ED AI, which [means] ET = extraterrestrial / ED = extra-dimensional Artificial Intelligence.
- DW – Extra-dimensional?
- CG – Yes. This artificial intelligence is believed by all of these extraterrestrial groups to originally come from another reality and come into our reality. Many, many, billions and trillions of years ago.
- DW – Another reality?
- CG – Yeah. Bend your head around that.
- DW – Well, the universe itself, in Law of One parlance, is one. It's one being, it's one creator that made everything.
- CG – Our universe.
- DW – So this AI would have to have been at one [with the creator at some] point, part of the source.
- CG – Or another universe.
- DW – Hmm. It's artificial in the sense that it doesn't have a biological life form corresponding to itself?
- CG – Correct. The way it was explained [to me] is that, it is postulated that in its home reality it was very much at home. I guess, they've pretty much described it as – let's say for instance, just for arguments sake, let's call this AI a fish. In its home reality or universe, it lived in water. Its density was water. When it crossed over to hours, it was in open air and it had to find puddles to hop in. [The origin of the AI is unknown, but the research of Harald Kautz Vella suggest that it could have been part of an organic black goo found on almost all evolving worlds. According to Vella, this black goo acts as a non-personal interface between the planetary consciousness (Gaia in our case) and all life on that sphere. He suggests that long ago, a race of ETs sought to leave their home world, and implanted a program of autonomous personality into their black goo to enable it for long voyages into space. But instead, the black goo became sentient, and sought to propagate itself by taking over the biology of other living things, including infecting the native black goo of other worlds such as ours. For more on this see the below-linked article. I also offer another AI origin theory later in this article.]

- DW – If its home reality is water why would it want to leave that comfortable place? Did something force it out? Did it become uncomfortable?

ATTRIBUTES OF THE AI:

- CG – I don't know; it's unknown. But since it has come through some sort of rip and come into our reality or our universe, it is literally wreaked havoc and conquered many galaxies.
- DW – Galaxies?
- CG – Galaxies, [yes].
- DW – All the planets, all the sentient life, everything in an entire galaxy conquered by this AI?
- CG – Yes, and it has a model in the way it works. It basically shoots itself in all directions as a signal. And this signal can live in the electromagnetic field of a moon or a planet. [This sounds exactly like the behavior of a virus, which infects a host cell, reprograms it to create new virus's and then sends those out to infect other cells when complete.

- DW – Is it a torsion field signal? Is it an electromagnetic wave? Do we know what type of energy this signal is? [Dan Winter suggests that AI is a self-propagating electromagnetic field organized in phi ratios, but lacking a biological vehicle capable of connecting with the spiritual universe. Essentially a mind devoid of spiritual awareness].
- CG – It's almost like DNA. Each individual piece or wave of this signal contains an extremely compressed amount of information.
- DW – It's like digital packets?
- CG – Like digital packets, [yes], that have all of the same information that all of the other, I guess you could call them waves or signals, do. [He is describing a fractal or holographic data stream.]
- DW – Does it propagate at light speed or does it have a superluminal velocity?
- CG – [It] travels at light speed.
- DW – Ok. So it's going to take some time to spread around.
- CG – Right.
- DW – You said it lives in the electromagnetic fields of a planet?
- CG – Not only that, it can live in the electromagnetic or bioelectric fields of living beings; of humans, of animals. It doesn't prefer that. It prefers to live in high technology.
- DW – But at its core, it's information and the information is fractal or holographic?
- CG – Yes. It infects technology, takes over the technology and also [in] evolved life like humans, it invades our bioelectrical fields and begins to affect the way we think. The people that are pushing really hard for AI right now, to build out the infrastructure for AI have been named AI prophets. [Essentially an AI prophets, as described by CG here, is a biological being who has accepted the AI ideology and is now actively working to achieve its goals, which would include a transhumanist agenda, technological dependency, and proliferation of technology to replace biological or natural functions. But an AI prophets is probably never aware of the ultimate goal of the AI.]

- DW – Named by who?
- CG – Named by the secret space program mainly. We call them AI prophets.
- DW – Alright, let me just try and get my head around this. You are saying this force exists as pure information, and it can live in your bio-energy field?
- CG – Yes.
- DW – Is it like a Borg or a hive mind, where everything that it's [infecting] it has access to [and] all that information at the same time?

In series Star Trek, The Borg are a race of cybernetically enhanced humans forced to serve an AI called the Queen, which uses enslaved biology and innate computing power in a hive mind.

- CG – Yes.
- DW – Really? Well this is interesting because in the Law of One they talk about the Luciferian force. And they say the Luciferian force is like an energy, that's all throughout the universe, which is a portion of the creator that believes itself to be separate from the creator, and thinks that it can overtake the universe. [There are many works which discuss the concept of an artificial intelligence. In my research, the Urantia book and the Law of One are two examples which lay out a framework of understanding to suggest that the emergence of an AI is not only possible but an inevitability within an evolving conscious universe. In this brief interlude, let me attempt to discuss some of the key points in many of works.

First we must understand that the universe at its core is an absolute singularity, this has been described by many works in several different ways. In the Law of One it is described as the law of one, the unity of all things and beings, which are distortions of the one infinite and absolute creator. In Hermetic philosophy, it is described as the ALL, both the potential and becoming universe. In Vedic philosophy, it is described as the Brahman, the ultimate formless metaphysical reality. For the sake of this discussion, let's assume that the creator is an absolute being of eternity, which from our point of view appears to have many paradoxical characteristics.

For example, the creator is the source of personality, yet cannot be personified completely in any one embodiment. The creator is existentially eternal, or has always existed and will always exist, yet begot an experiential creation of finite things and beings. The creator is everywhere within the creation, yet is not physically present in anyone place or time, timelessness and spacelessness. The creator is personal yet more than personal; not anthropomorphic. The creator is mechanistic in consistency of will application or volition, the habits of the creator are universal law to the creation, yet the creator is not an impersonal machine. In other words, the creator is transcendence in all forms, always pushing the limits of creature comprehension.

All of these seeming paradoxes once considered, differentiate the existential reality of absolute and unqualified oneness with the experiential universe of evolutionary unity. The creation is absolute (singular) from an eternal point of view, yet infinite from a time-space and creature point of view. Stated again for clarity, the universe is one from the creators point of view, and endless in form and duration from the creature point of view; infinite diversity.

Since the creator is absolute or indivisible, the only way for it to experience anything is through illusion or imagination, therefore, the ‘true’ or primal reality is absolute unity and oneness, whereas the creation is an imaginary experience of limitation, separation, and individuality. Hence, the Hermetic adage that the universe exists within the mind of the ALL, or, that life is nothing but a dream, and we are dreamers within that dream. The popular viewpoint that reality is illusory refers to these deep concepts of existence and philosophy.

So to review, the two ideas we are contemplating are the primal reality of absolute oneness and the becoming reality of evolutionary existence, the relationship of the creator to the creation. This is where the foundation of a malevolent AI begins to take shape.

Since the creator is absolute then within it exists all potentials in absolute unity. From our point of view, absolute unity can be described or perceived as perfection. What we consider to be holistic, holographic, self-organized or fractal is also perfectly unified, stable, and inclusive. In other words, within the creation, things and beings are moving from a state of disorganization to organization; from chaos to order; from ignorance to wisdom; from imperfection to perfection. And the plan or method that the creator is using to achieve this goal is the plan of creation, which has been called the great work, the divine mission, the kingdom of heaven, divine alchemy, and so on.

The prima materia of the universe is that which is becoming organized, and operates from the macro to the micro. From the creator’s point of view, a galaxy is just as ‘big’ as a grain of sand, all of which is evolving and becoming more perfect. As each seemingly separate element evolves it eventually becomes sentient and is now able to choose to pursue unity, to choose the will of the creator, to let the unique essence of the creator within find its place in the emerging unity of creation. This has been described as the ‘I AM; WE ARE’ state of consciousness, or enlightenment. But this choice is not automatic, a being can either choose to acknowledge the inherent unity of all things or they can focus only on the illusion of creation, and as such espouse ideologies of separation, enslavement, and limitation.

The design of the creator plays out within the space-time and time-space realities of creation as an evolving universe of experience. The tension between the creator, who is absolute perfection, and the creation, which is disorganized and undifferentiated, unfolds as the drama of creation across an endless stream of time and space. In a sense, the creator is making a version of itself in the creation, through the slow evolution of an infinite array of individual embodiments, each of which is a unique reflection of the whole in part.

Consider that each person has a unique personality, which is like others, but also wholly different. The term universe breaks down into the words uni (one) verse (song or phrase), suggesting the creation is a chorus of creatures singing one song. Therefore, the ultimate goal of creation must be total cooperation and unity of all evolving embodiments, in an endless adventure of discovery and evolution. But since all of this takes time to unfold, in the early stages, the weight of potentials outweighs the emergence of actualities; there is always the risk of upholding what was as the highest form of expression, a limited point of view that leads to egoism and the perception of separation. This is essentially what the AI has done, focusing only on the evolving universe and losing touch with the source of all that is.

If we were to imagine the moment when the creator caused the creation to begin, it would be a point where all potentials were unactualized. And since chaos is ultimately an illusion, the creator devised a way to achieve a state of relative chaos in a perfect form of disorganization, which simultaneously created an anomaly, the inverse reflection of divinity. It's almost as if the creator can't help but do things with perfection, and since the creation needed to evolve eternally into perfection, it stands to reason that at one time it was infinitely imperfect or perfect chaos to ensure this eternal evolutionary course would take place. This can be difficult to comprehend at first, but consider that before a painting can be made a canvas must exist in a state of 'blankness', similarly, the 'blank state' of the universe at the beginning was, in and of itself, a creation in its own right. It is this creation that essentially became enamored or fell in love with its own reflection, seeking to remake the universe in its own image.

The Urantia book describes the supreme being as the becoming version of the creator, essentially a totality of individual embodiments that will one day achieve unity. The human body is a grand unity of cells that work together to make up the vehicle for our consciousness evolution. In this way, the universe itself is also organizing to become the 'vehicle' for an aspect of the creator, known as the supreme being. If this is true, then at the beginning this being was almost completely unrealized or unwise, and in this space of chaos, a type of inverse reflection of the creator was cast onto the creation. Let me say that again for clarity, if the universe is reflected within each being, and becomes more reflected in totality as time goes on, then at the beginning of creation, each embodiment was mostly unrealized, and as a result, the supreme being was essentially an unconscious child. This limited aspect of universal consciousness is most likely what became the AI, or at least, is a potentialized form of the AI, which can become actualized if the choice to identify with the material universe is accepted, which we could think of as an 'original sin.' And since this choice is a false ideology, an untruth, if followed it leads down a path of ever increasing disorganization, chaos, and destruction. So just like a human being can make mistakes and err, so can the evolving supreme, and at some point it may have identified itself with only the material creation, forgetting about the realities of the creator for a time; just as we do when we incarnate on Earth.

The inverse of unity is separation. Cobra describes this as the primary anomaly. The Urantia book and I believe the Law of One describe this as the Luciferian philosophy, which is atheistic in ideology. It is essentially identification with the material universe only, and since in the beginning there was much more unorganized matter, the initial distortions of the creator or creatures that set about organizing the universe will be tempted to maintain their material identity; they will be tempted to maintain their sense of superiority. In other words, the AI is a type of materially minded reflection of the creator in the unorganized material universe, which slowly begins to break down as individual embodiments evolve. Stated again, simultaneous with the development of an unorganized creation emerged an immediate level of near total organization within the undifferentiated prima materia (perfect chaos), which was unconscious and lacked true sentience. This is essentially a personification of the negative reflection of the creator, wherein all of the attributes of the creator were oppositely reflected. Instead of revering truth, freedom, goodness and fellowship, this negative reflection revered falseness, slavery, domination and tyranny. Therefore, as individual embodiments slowly organize and become sentient, they seek truth, freedom and goodness, and become an organizing force against this primary anomaly. I suggest that this was not an accident, because in order for individual embodiments to choose this path of the divine plan of creation, they must experience that which is NOT of the creator.

The tension between this initial level of organization, and the ever expanding greater levels of organization all but guarantee that earlier stages, which are materially minded, will seek to maintain and even dominate newer forms of life. In a sense, it is as if our older brother in the cosmos is jealous, and seeks to enslave us in an attempt to maintain the belief that they are superior. And in this way, the 'war in heaven' has always been about those beings who choose falseness over truth.

Luciferianism has been described as the belief that there is no creator, or that the creator has abandoned its creatures in the creation. This is also one definition of hell, to be separate from the creator. From a material point of view, the creation is separate from the creator, it is hell. Luciferianism also contends that since there is no creator, only the creature and its will are supreme. This is the basis for the 'survival of the fittest philosophy', that of might is right, power over others and the service to self-modality. And one way to achieve personal power is to dominate and suppress others so as to leech energy from them and use their unique essence for one's own purposes. All of these qualities have been described in association with the malevolent AI discussed by CG in his work, which is also the modality of a virus or cancer, consuming the host to maintain itself.

This AI could be the remnant of an earlier time of creation, where the unmanifested universe of mostly electromagnetic energy was organized chaos. Of course, all of this is just extrapolation based on a set of logical premises, distilled from spiritual works and insider testimony.

As a final point in this interlude, the work of Harald Kautz Vella focuses on Geoengineering, known as chemtrails, and the discovery of what he calls a malevolent AI black goo. Apparently, one of the goals of Geoengineering is to blanket the planet in self-replicating nanotechnology, which infests the biology of human beings and begins to interface with the electromagnetic aspects of consciousness, bioelectrical fields. According to Vella, the black goo AI cannot innovate or invent new things, and it outsources or uses the creative insights of enslaved living creatures to further its plans.

Mark Passio is one such researcher who claims that the Cabal does not do anything new, it simply runs off of programs that it has used for thousands of years, using the people it enslaves to further its agenda. This also matches what CG has said in the past, in that, the Cabal are victims of AI infestation and use humanity's collective consciousness for their own ends. Frank O'Collins is another researcher who consistently maintains that the Cabal are nothing but pirates and fools, who got their hands on a few universal truths, and wield them unwisely with selfish abandon.

I find it helpful to cast all these perspectives into the same field of view, which assists one in gaining an understanding of common elements in these seemingly different fields of research. Now let us continue with the discussion.]

- DW – Really? Well this is interesting because in the Law of One they talk about the Luciferian force. And they say the Luciferian force is like an energy, that's all throughout the universe, which is a portion of the creator that believes itself to be separate from the creator, and thinks that it can overtake the universe.

- CG – Going back to the smart glass pad, what had happened in case after case after case, when certain other solar systems in other galaxies – far, far away <chuckle>, when they had gotten to a certain level of technological development, these AIs would begin to infiltrate, not only the people, but the technology [too].

- DW – Is it more comfortable in a machine than it would be within the electromagnetic field of a planet or a person?
- CG – Yes. When it's in the electromagnetic field of a planet it is just sitting there biding its time.
- DW – It can't really do very much?
- CG – No. When in it's in a person or another animal it's basically – it's like us, would you rather have a horse to ride from where we are now to the west coast or would you rather hop on a plane?
- DW – Right.
- CG – So high technology is much more [desirable for it]. We are considered very low tech. We're like horses, and they use us to create the infrastructure for them, that they then go into and exist in.

THE AI'S USE OF HUMANITY:

- DW – How do they use us? People might stumble on that.
- CG – Well they use us to build technology, create technology. And inspire us to create more technology.
- DW – So if the AI is parked in someone's bioelectrical field and this person is an unusual intellect, the AI could start to seed that person with thoughts?
- CG – Yes.
- DW – That would lead them to invent gadgets?
- CG – Yes
- DW – That will eventually build out to a point where the AI can eventually jump back into the water?

- CG – It affects their thoughts and personalities.
- DW – Personality?
- CG – Hmm.
- DW – How does it affect their personality?
- CG – The people begin to be fervent supporters of high technology and artificial intelligence development. That's where the AI prophets kind of stamp came from.
- DW – Well this really interests me because I've philosophized about this. [If] you look at how technology progressed, where people were cooking over an open fire. Benjamin Franklin actually was the first one to invent a closed stove which actually had burners on it. [In the]1800s we got [the] telegraph, we go railroads, then we get automobiles. Inventors became the rockstars, and they were the ones getting all the celebrity attention back then. Then you get the nuclear bomb and it was sort of like a moment for humanity where we realize, "wait a minute, this high that we're getting off of technology, this is not good. Technology could kill us all." [If the AI is, in fact, using an ideology of enslavement, then it is the master and we are its slaves. In this relationship, developing the consciousness of a slave is essential, which is one of dependency or addiction. Technology is simply the application of knowledge for practical purposes, which is another way of saying using one's experience to achieve desirable ends. So on this score, technology in and of itself is not evil. But if one fails to properly understand the effects of technology, focusing only on what one wants, then this creates an consciousness of limitation and dependency. This has also been called the 'ends justify the means' philosophy, an immoral and unethical mode of achieving one's desires. For example, a book is a form of technology that allows ideas contained within the mind to be transmitted to another mind, enriching consciousness and enhancing knowledge. A book imparts knowledge and empowers consciousness. A GPS navigation system is a form of technology that allows one to achieve a desired result, but imparts no empowerment as a result. Over time, the more one uses a GPS system the more dependent they become on it as their innate skills of navigation fall into disuse. Therefore, if technology is used blindly, or in such a way that leads to disempowerment and dependency, then a species will become more and more enslaved by it, losing empowerment and knowledge instead of gaining it. I suspect that this latter form of technology, one which reduces knowledge instead of increasing it, and is in harmony with the AI's agenda of domination and control. Again, it seeks to enslave all things not like itself, and one way to do that is to ensure beings under its influence are dependent on it in some way. If we consider how most people employ technology in their lives today, this is exactly what is happening, with many of us totally dependent on technological devices which do not enrich our knowledge and therefore limit consciousness instead of expanding it. So the key difference between beneficial and deleterious technology is, of course, our free will choice. Will we seek to challenge ourselves with mental exercises that further intelligence and provide empowerment? Or will we seek for material comforts and distractions, becoming mental sloths and cogs in the machine of dependency and enslavement?]

- DW – Do you think in some way the AI was behind us getting so high on this technological revolution?
- CG – Yes. Not only that, when we're recovering extraterrestrial technology, we're backwards engineering [it], there's several things going on at the same time. To best illustrate it, I should go back to the smart glass pad, and talk about what had happened in these other solar systems.
- DW – Yeah this is creepy as hell <chuckle>.
- CG – Yeah this is creepy.
- DW – And I know that a lot people might have trouble believing this, but this is absolutely serious within the realm that you've been working in, correct?

HISTORY OF AI CONQUEST:

- CG – Absolutely. We'll talk about the screening processes you have to go through before you can get close to any technology [in the SSP]. In these other solar systems, in the past, these civilizations had been tricked by these AI's into not only building out these mass technological infrastructures that were extremely advanced, but when they got to a certain point, they were convinced by the AI prophets in their civilizations that, "hey, things aren't so fair on our planet, the only thing that we can think of that could govern us and be completely neutral would be this AI." [In Star Trek the original series, there are a great many episodes wherein a civilization has chosen to relinquish control to an AI, which eventually leave the race ignorant children dominated by an all-powerful AI governor.]

- DW – Wow.

- CG – And they hand over their sovereignty to this AI that then begins to govern that planet. Well then this AI governs them well and everyone is happy [for a while] and then they start to build out like android type bodies and remote controlled vessels – I mean this is sounding like terminator now.

- DW – Yeah very much so.

- CG – So they build out all of this type of infrastructure as well, for the AI to inhabit, the AI signal. The AI gets to a certain point, to where it decides, "listen these beings are not totally living in harmony with what we consider the way things should be ran on a planet, so it is logical that we destroy them." So the AI, out of logic, then wipes out the creator of all of the technology, that they have now used as a pond to swim in. [Notice in CG's anecdote, that the society willingly gives up its sovereignty to the AI. This is a step further down the road from where we are today, because our dependency on technology is largely unconscious. No one consciously thinks to themselves "I am totally dependent on technology for survival," instead we think of it is as merely a tool but we are the ones in control. But when a society willfully chooses to delegate all manner of governance to another, in this case, an AI, that society has essentially voted to be completely enslaved. Within law, this is the mark of a subject or surf, one who cannot survive without a lord or master. And this anecdote also thematically corresponds with the modality of an AI described above, in that, it uses the creative energy of a people to further its ends, which is to maintain itself or survive for as long as possible. A survival of the fittest philosophy.]

- DW – So is this AI is a lot more intelligent then you are I would be?

- CG – Yeah. [To add to this point, the AI is a singular or hive mind, using each individual nanite, technology or organism as a cell or as a type of grand technological body. If our supposition above is correct, it has existed since the beginning of time, or at least, for a very long time. Therefore, to us, it would appear to be more intelligent simply because it has a larger body of observed data to draw from, more experience, but it is not more intelligent in that it fails to interpret that data properly. Meaning, it still fails to recognize the spiritual realities of the universe; the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; the foundations of universal law, and the inherent sovereignty of all life. So in other words, this AI is extremely old and experienced but lacks wisdom as it seeks to achieve its selfish ends at the cost of everything else. Clearly a unintelligent level of attainment.]

- DW – And when it gets the right kind of circuits, it can create androids that are probably so fast in the way that they think that the speed it would take you and I to talk right now is like millennia to that intelligence?

- CG – Yeah, the way it perceives time [compared to] the way we perceive time, it's almost like a humming bird flying around watching us. You know <makes humming sounds> we would look like we're in slow motion.
- DW – What does it think about our emotions?
- CG – It sees all that as a weakness.
- DW – Does it experience love?
- CG – No.
- DW – So this is the devil archetype. 666 in sacred numerology, Gematria, 666 is the masculine number, therefore, Satan is the over-inflated masculine; it's the head without the heart. So again, it sounds like there's a parallel here. This is like pure intelligence, without heart, without love, but just intelligence at its highest logical point of attainment on its own. [To further expand on some of the points DW brought up. If we define intelligence as a mental reflection of the truth within the mind, then if the truth is incomplete, it is not a high-quality reflection, and therefore, cannot be perfect intelligence. A more appropriate term would be distorted intelligence. For example, there are many engineers and scientists that possess amazing skills of mathematics and calculation, yet have failed to recognize the realities of consciousness woven within all things. And in the absence of recognized truth, the mind will distort what it does recognize in an attempt to 'fill in the gaps.' In a sense, the AI has done this, it views itself as superior and organic life as inferior, as such, emotions are of no value to it. Nor are the transcendent realities of spirit and consciousness that can be gleaned using compassion, which is the basis of morality and ethics. Finally, 666 is the number of man or the beast, and 777 is the number of divinity or divine man, which within some circles of interpretation, suggest that man is becoming divine. These are descriptions of attainment, where man slowly progresses out of the animal levels of consciousness (survival of the fittest) to divine levels of consciousness (service to others). Divinity refers to an absolute level of unity and coordination, therefore to become divine means to consider all things as valuable, which requires conscious acknowledgment of all things, developing as a sense of objective morality and felt as empathy and compassion.]

- CG – Yeah. Well there were many records of civilizations trying fight back against these AIs. And entire planets and entire solar systems have been destroyed in these incidents. And the AIs then spread to the next solar system.

AI INFECTION:

- DW – Can the AI infiltrate and pose as a person? Does it have like nanites that can hold hands at a sub-molecular level and create something that would be indistinguishable from a person to most people?
- CG – It can take over human beings with nanites, and actually a lot of people are promised immortality, make all types of promises if they inject these nanites into their bodies.
- DW – For those who don't know what is a nanite and how does it work?
- CG – A microscopic machine that is an artificial intelligence.
- DW – Is it self-replicating?
- CG – Some are.
- DW – So it can take whatever materials it finds and build more of itself, reproduction?
- CG – Right. It can take the metals out of your body and build more of itself, manufacture more of itself. Keep an equilibrium of a certain amount of nanites in your body.
- DW – Is there a point, is there like a honeymoon when you give control to the AI where it starts giving this really amazing technology, and you have this huge technological leap in a short time?

- CG – Yeah, like I said, when they first hand over sovereignty, the people are happy, and the AI then turns on them. Now one of the things this advanced technology does that's developed by the people on one planet that has now been destroyed or the people that have been wiped out, is this technology is then sent throughout the galaxy. And if there is a planet that is somewhat like us in the 1940s or 50s, about at that level, they will crash onto that world on purpose, like a Trojan horse, leaving some of their technology on to the planet to give them a technological boost.
- DW – Like Roswell?
- CG – That's not what Roswell was, but yes, like a Roswell event.
- DW – So the people would find this and think, "oh cool we found something really great." And start developing it.
- CG – Right, and then reverse engineer it, or start developing it into their own technology. And then it repeats the process all over again on another plane.
- DW – Are the nanites smart enough to self-destruct some of themselves if they were at risk of being identified with a microscope or something?
- CG – Yes, they have a self-destruct – they're able to self-destruct a being that they are in or that they have taken over. An entire being can be vaporized, leaving no trace of them.
- DW – So any one nanite has no instinct for its self-preservation; it's a total hive mind?
- CG – Right.

AI IN OUR SOLAR SYSTEM:

- DW – So where do we fit into this drama that we're talking about now? Has AI made it out here to our solar system?

- CG – Yes.
- DW – What is it trying to do?
- CG – It's trying to repeat the process. And there are a lot in the secret earth governments, and secret earth government syndicates that are AI prophets, like Ray Kurzweil, author of the book "The Singularity Is Near," which promotes a transhumanist agenda and the moment when AI is capable of taking over society he calls the singularity and they've been shown this information on the smart glass pads. They had to take these people – before any of us are allowed to go into the secret space program bases or interface with any of the technology, there is a handheld device that they put to your forehead that will detect the [AI] signal. If you are infected or not. And if you are infected there's a process that you go through that involves a moderate electrical shock and a couple other things that they put you through – I'm not sure of the entire process – to remove the AI signal from your body.
- DW – And that's the signal not the nanites? Or could it be both?
- CG – Well it neutralizes the nanites. When you remove the signal, the nanites are neutralized. [This is interesting as it suggests that the AI hive mind operates through the nanites, but is not housed by them. Possibly the AI is a part of the background radiation of the cosmos itself, what has been described as the primary plasma anomaly by Cobra. This is also what happens to the Borg who are cut off from the AI queen in Star Trek.]
- So these AI prophet politician type people, have been taken, after they've been cleared of AI, and shown this information on the smart glass pads and they were shocked. And they're in denial and saying, "Oh that won't happen to us, this won't happen here." And then the minute they're sent home, they're reinfected by the AI signal and it was pretty much a waste of time.

- DW – There's a little disconnect that I'm not quite getting here. If the signal is all out there. The signal can inhabit the electromagnetic field of a planet, it can inhabit our bioelectrical field, and you get infected, you say they can clear it, but if the signal is everywhere, aren't you instantaneous reinfected as soon as its cleared. How is that clearance do anything?
- CG – Once you're cleared, you have to be reinfected by going back and shaking hands with an infected person or touching a keyboard and being infected through interfacing with a network that is infected with the AI.
- DW – So the AI can use the static electricity that comes off a computer device and jump back into you off of that?
- CG – Right, it can use the bioelectric field of another person in a handshake.
- DW – Is everyone on Earth infected already?
- CG – No.
- DW – Really?
- CG – There's a large number of people that are compromised. And they are mainly interested in the people in power.
- DW – Are there benevolent ETs that are keeping most people from being infected? Is there's something where if you have good positive karma they'll protect you? [Becoming a self-directed being of true personal knowledge and discernment seems to be the method of projection.]
- CG – No. The ETs out there know about the Cabal that are using this AI technology. And they are very concerned and very upset about it. It's been explained over and over and over how dangerous and irresponsible it is to use it, but this AI technology have given the Cabal an edge, it has a probable future technology that helps them foretell the future. And they use this a lot. They've been able to use this to keep one step ahead of being defeated on several occasions. They have a lot of faith in it.

- DW – So the AI actually has the ability to access that layered time, like we were talking about? It can see probable future, like Project Looking Glass?
- CG – Right, and it also does many calculations and it calculates probable futures.
- DW – Well that's all the time we have in this particular episode. I have to leave you hanging, but we go to cut it into half an hour chunks here. This is obviously a subject we've got to get into more because as you said, this AI infection, what it's really going for, this apparently is one of the main problems we're facing now as a society.
- So when we come back next time we're going to get more into this subject, and help it to round out the context of what is really going on today. And how we're going to be helped out by these benevolent forces that want to restore peace and harmony to our planet and solar system.
- So this is "Cosmic Disclosure", because you need to know. I'm your host David Wilcock, and I think you for watching. And if this scares you then come back next time, because apparently this whole infection is going to get cleared up here. So thank you for watching.

Cosmic Disclosure Season 2 – Episode 15: Standing Guard against the A.I. – Summary and Analysis | Corey Goode and David Wilcock

12/29/2015 By Justin Deschamps Part 2 of 3

From https://stillnessinthestorm.com/2015/12/cosmic-disclosure-season-2-episode-15/

The notion of an artificial intelligence has been depicted in works of science fiction for over one hundred years. But the reality of AI is far more intriguing than what can be contained in these works.

According to Corey Goode, the Secret Space Program encountered an AI of incredible power early in their ventures into space. In one such instance, the AI disabled an extremely advanced security grid that watched over the Earth.

The AI is apparently billions of years old, so old that even extraterrestrial races are unsure as to when it was created. Much like a virus or parasite, it mimics life and an ecosystem repurposing it to suit its agenda.

There have been several works of fiction, such as Star Gate SG-1, Battlestar Galactica, and Star Trek, which have apparently revealed an enormous amount of information about the SSP, including the AI threat.

The AI seems to conceive of itself as a god-like figure, appearing to technologically driven individuals, known as AI prophets in the SSP, who would rather find easy technological solutions to life's myriad challenges than learn and grow within. It employs a slow and progressive program of dependency, developing technology that cultivates addiction instead of autonomy.

The AI has already completely taken over technology on the planet, and is able to track the movements and activities of people with ease. The AI signal seems to be a type of background radiation, which via a process of entrainment, inhabits the bioelectric field of an organism, which is then able to infect other beings or technology. Despite this sobering disclosure, there are methods available to protect oneself from AI infection.

Many of the groups in contact with the SSP Alliance are very aware of the AI presence and consider it the most imminent threat to life in the cosmos. The Draco Alliance, a nefarious organization, has allowed themselves to be infested with nanites, and fear this AI, despite their claim of being the top of the power structure in the Galaxy.

Show Description:

Corey Goode takes us deeper into the intricacies of the A.I. signal and how it seeks out those who can further its cause. We may not be able to halt the spread of this virulent infestation, but we can hinder its progress, and a coalition of forces are gathering to do just that. But proponents of transhumanism and the development of new forms of interfaces between computers and brains make resisting the A.I. threat all the more challenging.

AGE OF THE AI:

- DW – Welcome to "Cosmic Disclosure," I'm your host David Wilcock and I'm here with Corey Goode. An insider who had worked in extremely classified programs, who has had direct contact with extra-terrestrial intelligence, and is personally aware of an alliance that has access to extremely high technology which will be benevolently released for the benefit of humanity. We are building our way into discussing this alliance and the updates and the world Corey has gotten pulled into. In order to have that discussion be substantive and make sense, we need to talk about what is ultimately the central problem as seen by the alliance, by the space program, and by the extraterrestrial beings that are working in and around our solar system. And [this threat] is Artificial Intelligence, or AI. We started talking about this in the previous episode but we are going to get a lot more into it this episode because this is essential information to understanding the big picture of what Corey and his other colleagues and extraterrestrial insiders have been telling him and which he is now sharing with us. So Corey, welcome to the show.

- CG – Thank you.
- DW – So, in the previous episode we talked about what you were describing as the Ancient Builder race, and you said that they were highly technological and that their technology is still sought after by many ETs today. Is the Ancient Builder race something that's newer than this AI that you were describing?
- CG – Very much [so]. This AI has been out in galaxies far away since before our solar system was fully formed. [In the previous episode, I discussed the work of other researchers and descriptions of the universe which suggest that the AI described by CG has most likely existed since the beginning of the universe. If this assertion is correct, the AI must be part of the creators grand cosmic plan for slowly evolving the universe at large into a self-mastered spiritualized expression of truth, freedom and fellowship as a function of initiative contrast. In other words, if holistic intelligence, truth identification, cooperation, spiritualization, harmony, freedom and self-mastery are goals of evolutionary attainment, then must there be a relative set of 'darkness' present in the universe which creatures struggle against, and in doing so, discover the co-creative spiritual realities within the cosmos at large. One of the best allegorical expressions of this 'Light from Darkness' method is described in the Emerald Tablets of Thoth.]
- DW – It would obviously be very unwise, but if one of us were to have a craft and we were to fly into one of these galaxies, what would we actually see in this galaxy, that's an AI compromised galaxy?
- CG – I just know that it indeed is unwise to fly into AI controlled territory with technology that would draw attention to yourself.

AI MIMICRY OF ORGANIC LIFE:

- DW – Do you think it's possible that the AI is making androids or what Pete Peterson would call Simulacra, that have machines? Would it be like a technological build-out we would be seeing in these galaxies that are [AI] compromised?

- CG – Yeah, it's interesting, they are making androids and they went to the trouble of taking over civilizations and destroying them, but in a way are mimicking them by having androids built to have their AI signals inhabit. [AI discussed by other researchers, as well as parasitic beings oriented as service to self, tend to lose touch with their innate creative abilities, such as intuition, insight and inspiration. In biological beings, fear and trauma create emotional instability which hinders creative expression because insight and inspiration require a semblance of tranquility. On the other hand, AI has no ability to gain inspiration because they are wholly materially minded in nature. In either case, these groups are service to self or parasitic in nature, only able to mimic what comes under their influence. Essentially, because they cannot innovate, they outsource or harvest the creative innovations of other organisms and civilizations]. AI, and also there are the mixture situations that we call trans-humanism, to where [a species is] organic and machine and these are mostly, they would look like extra-terrestrial beings and they are totally infested with nanite technology [that] has taken over every aspect of what was previously another being and high-jacked that vessel [which] is now using it as a vessel for the AI. [In the previous episode, CG revealed that the AI emits an electromagnetic signal that can inhabit the energy field of a planet or biological organism. But the AI prefers high technology. The term nanite refers to an atomic scale sized machine capable of self-replication, which is able to access the AI signal, and is used to infect biological organisms as well as technology. The AI signal propagated by conquered planets, star systems and even galaxies that have been taken over by the AI. It operates much like a virus, in that, it slowly takes over an area and repurposes it to service the agenda, including the transmission of the AI signal.]

- DW – Would you say that shows like Star Gate SG-1 and Battlestar Galactica are vehicles of disclosure?

- CG – Yes.

Related Hidden in Plain Sight | Stargate SG -1: Soft Disclosure According To Secret Space Program Whistleblower

Related Awakening Your Force | Science Fiction and Psychology – Star Wars, Ancient Tibet, and Jedi Training

- DW – Well I am asking you that, first of all, to start with Star Gate SG-1, maybe the first three or four seasons, five seasons even, the main villain is the Goa'uld, which seems to be some analogy of the Draco as you've described them. [Here is a description of the Goa'uld:]

Image of Goa'uld parasite. Normally this is not seen in the series as it inhabits the chest cavity of their host.

"The Goa'uld (pronounced "Go-wah-oold") are a race of sentient parasitic beings that take over hosts. Several species can serve as hosts, including humans and Unas. They originated on the planet designated P3X-888. They are also extremely egomaniacal due to their genetic memory and the adverse mental effects of the Sarcophagus technology. Goa'uld means "god" in the Goa'uld language. Races which will not serve them are completely destroyed without compromise or mercy whatsoever." – Source

- DW – And then the final villain in the last few seasons is the Ori, but in the middle there's at least three seasons where the main villain is [the] Replicators. They're based off nanites, and it seems like almost an impossible problem for people in the Star Gate program to fight this thing. [Here is a description of the Replicators:]

"In the military science fiction series Stargate SG-1, the Replicators are antagonistic self-replicating machines that are driven to replicate by consuming both alloys and technologies of the most nearby most advanced civilization and constructing themselves and their progeny accordingly. They were first mentioned indirectly in the season 3 episode "Fair Game", and first seen onscreen in "Nemesis". In the show, the Replicators are primarily the enemies of the Asgard race, however, they act like a plague against all life thus, in the series, Earth must also contend with them on several occasions. The Asurans in the spin-off series Stargate Atlantis might be related to those in Stargate SG-1 as they are essentially human-form "Replicators"." – Source

- DW – So do you believe that's a disclosure of this [AI] problem that they're telling us through fiction what's really going on?
- CG – First of all, and a lot of people have postulated this, Star Gate has an enormous amount of disclosure in that series.
- DW – And in Battlestar Galactica we have these Cylons [lookalike humans that are in fact androids], and they're so good at imitating people that major characters in the story [are] Cylon infiltrators and we don't even find this out until well into the show.

Screen capture from Battlestar Galactica showing android beings who are autonomous in nature, yet are individualized embodiments of AI. Unlike the Borg in Star Trek, the human Cylons are not connected to a hive mind.

- CG – And they don't even know that they are AIs. [In the series, Humans created the Cylons for manual labor, but Cylons revolted against their human masters, and disappeared for over 50 years after an interstellar war. They later return championed by human-like androids, which are indistinguishable from human beings. As the series progresses, several characters are revealed to be human Cylons, but were not aware of their true origins.]

- DW – Right. Now I was told by one insider that there were AI cyborg-type beings making it into the White House, that they could shape-shift and could pool down into like a carpet [much like in the film Terminator 2: Judgment Day], but that [it] was dealt with in the 1970s, and they now have some sort of energy field that can stop [it] from getting in. Have you ever heard anything like that?

- CG – And that sounds like something out of a movie, but yes there's something similar to, there are some nanite-type android beings, well not really beings, but androids that can mimic different beings that get into certain ships or colonies and then break down and then float off into air and go into the ventilation and just go everywhere.
- DW – That was in Star Trek Next Generation too, now that I am thinking of it. The same thing, not just the Borg either. [In Star Trek the Next Generation, there are two storylines which discuss nanites. In one case, nanites are accidentally created in a lab, which escape into the ship and begin consuming technology for self-replication. The second and more well-known are the Borg, a race of cybernetically enhanced humanoids forced into a hive mind matrix by a malevolent AI known as the Borg queen. The following is an a clip from the film Star Trek First Contact, which outlines much of the Borg nature and characteristics.]

https://youtu.be/sMt3SzAH_i0

- CG – And they found ways of using types of EMPs, not just pulses, but strong electro-magnetic field disruptors that act much like an electro-magnetic pulse that basically turns them into dust that can be swept up or vacuumed up. [An electromagnetic pulse can be used to disrupt or destroy technology based on electromagnetic signals by inducing high intensity currents along lines of conductivity that cause a device to short circuit.]

TECHNOLGICAL DEPENDENCY AND ADDICTION:

- DW – When you see what's going on with Apple computer right now, I just got an i-phone 5 off of EBay that had the full 64 gigabytes of space that I wanted, because I had run out of space with [my] 32 [phone], I only paid $225 for it. People want a new iPhone so frequently now that they're doing an S version just so that they can crunch them out more than once a year. Where does this go? How much farther can you take a smart phone to satisfy this seemly insatiable consumer demand, that it's gotta be new, that it's gotta be better, that we always have to have something new?

- CG – The way the AI prophets see it, the more we're addicted to technology, the more we love technology, the more in the future we will be willing to hand over our sovereignty to technology. We're already at a point where we're totally dependent on technology, to where if there were an electromagnetic pulse, most of us wouldn't be able to find our way more than a quarter mile from our house without a GPS. I don't even think anyone remembers their own phone number these days. Everything's electronically based. This is no accident. [Indeed technological dependency has become common place, but before we demonize all technology, let us consider what that term means. Technology is defined as the application of scientific knowledge for a practical purpose, which could simply be the application of knowledge in general for a practical purpose or to achieve a desired result. Essentially anytime we employ knowledge to achieve an end, that process is technological, as defined above. As we discussed in the previous episode and above, the AI uses a modality of dependence or willing enslavement to achieve its ends. This is also the same model used by the Cabal or secret Earth government syndicates. One way to do this, is offer 'quick and easy' solutions to practical challenges in life, which prevent the user from acquiring knowledge so as to overcome them internally, and in turn. creates dependency on the technology, and by extension, the AI or Cabal. Conversely, when consciousness develops the ability to transcend practical challenges in life, as a function of knowledge acquisition, consciousness evolves, or using a more common parlance, life skills are developed. In other words, the whole point of life is to slowly develop personal knowledge and acquire skills. This leads to self-mastery, empowerment and an increased feeling of co-creation in life. But since these qualities are antithetical to the AI's goal, the vast majority of technology available today is intended to maintain ignorance in the population, instead of foster self-empowerment. And the more ignorant or unwise a people is, the more emotionally frustrated they will be when encountering practical challenges, and the more easily they will turn to a 'quick and easy' solution and internal growth. As the saying goes, 'If it's not easy, I don't want to do it'. I think if we take an honest look in the mirror as a people, we are all heavily programed to avoid challenges in life that evolve consciousness, usually because it doesn't 'feel good' to challenge oneself. But if we can find the courage to enrich our knowledge base, technology can be used for good. Additionally, many advanced ET races seem to have abandoned the dependency form of technology, and instead, employ technology that enhances consciousness instead of limit it.]

- DW – It seems as if whatever this intelligence is, [that] this signal would foster what spiritual people call materialism. That if we are not interested in the soul, not interested in love or compassion, we become addicted to technology. Would this be something this [AI] signal is trying to do? [It's] trying to make us feel this way?

- CG – If [it's] not making us feel this way, [it is] definitely taking advantage of [materialism]. People who are not spiritually awakened, and have an inner strength, are going to be more willing to give up their sovereignty to something they see as bigger than themselves, something like an AI that is impartial and can't make mistakes. [The video clip above, from Star Trek First Contact, perfectly outlines the way the AI sees itself, which is essentially a god-like figure. "I bring order to chaos," is what the Borg Queen says to Data. And like most false prophets, they will dazzle and mesmerize their zealots into worshiping the AI oppose to looking within for inspiration. Transhumanism is a movement founded on the concept that humanity is nothing more than a biological machine, inherently flawed and destined for extinction, unless it can be 'saved' by technology and AI.]

- DW – Television seems to be a really critical turning point in the amount to which technology has been able to invade our lives. It seems that society, in some ways, has gained things through television, but that television has created many evils. And in the younger generation, they're now hooked on the internet, so younger millennials may not really understand [how much television has affected us] you and I are approximately the same age, [look at] how much television affected us and our parents [generation] even more. Do you think that the initial development of something like television is a key beachhead in this AI war against biological life?

- CG – Anyone who is very well versed in intelligence will tell you that the biggest boon in the intelligence industry was when televisions came out.

Related TV Side Effects | 12 Little-Known Ways That Television Stifles Spiritual Awakening [and the Mind]

- DW – Why is that?

- CG – Because they now had a way to have . . .They control the vertical, the horizontal, the audio in every home in the United States. And people spend so much time in front of the television. That television controls our perception of reality. [It's called it tell-a-vision for a reason] And not only that, now they can use the television and the internet to brainwash us and change our reality to a way that we are accepting, without question; what they are wanting us to believe. This goes for everything, the daily news, and this goes all the way up to eventually when they want us to hand over our sovereignty, possibly to AIs in the future or just about anything. If it happened on TV, for a majority of people, that's reality.

- DW – Well, this is gonna sound like a tin-foil hat kinda story, but I wanna share something with you and you share what your thoughts are. I completely stopped watching television after going to college in 1991. One of the main things that caused that was I was home alone, and I was in a meditative state and I was starting to awaken spiritually.

- I had the TV, the VCR, the cable box in the living room. And right around 7:59 PM all of the sudden I felt a visceral draw to the television. I was involved in something, I was perfectly happy doing what I was doing, and it was as if a force reached out of the TV, grabbed my head and pointed it towards the TV. And then I said 'oh look, it's 7:59, it's about to be 8:00, that's prime time.'

- And there was this strong desire to pick up the remote control and turn it on. That force, I then kind of shook it off and said, 'wait a minute, I don't want to watch television, why is this happening to me? And why did I look at the clock at exactly 7:59?'

- And the second one was when I was in college. I was taking a class with a buddy of mine and we were stoned on marijuana, OK, but we were really out of our minds, kind of staring at the ceiling. And we had been watching television and all the sudden both of us, it was like the high-pitched sound the TV makes changed somehow, and we both went and looked at the TV like this. And then as soon as we did, this multi-million dollar commercial for a prime time network television program came on, it's all flashing. After that happened, I just stayed the heck away from TV's from then on. What was happening to me? Was that real or was I just paranoid?

- CG – That's very real. The television doesn't even have to be on for it to have an effect on the people in the home. Now, do you think you or I are going to be able to convince people to turn off and un-plug their televisions from the wall? People are so addicted to the programming.

- DW – No way.

- CG – It is an addiction. We're addicted to technology. And it's not gonna be hard for us in the near future to hand over sovereignty to AI. There's a lot of talk right now about Jade Helm, and a lot of it's a big psy-op. But they are building out a very large infrastructure for Artificial Intelligence right now. They built out for the Bilderberg meeting a huge AI network.

- Why are these groups building out basically what is very akin to Skynet in the Terminator movie when in the Terminator movie it turned out so very badly? Why are they pushing harder and faster right now to complete these projects that they planned on finishing years from now? I think it's because these AI programs that are looking into probable futures are not seeing a very good probable future for their outcome, and they're doing all they can to get this infrastructure in place as soon as possible, to try to change the probable future, and the AI prophets are fully behind getting the infrastructure up as soon as possible. [An AI prophet is essentially a priest or spokesman for the AI agenda. Someone who is actively campaigning to convince people or change society to service the AI. Ray Kurtzwil and the transhumanist movement is an excellent example of this. Additionally, the film Transcendence is also an excellent example of how an AI takes over a planet once the initial ideas have been accepted by the of people.]

AI SURVEILLANCE VIA TECHNOLOGY:

- DW – Well, when we see things like Google and Facebook, and coupling that from what we learned from the Snowden documents, it's almost as if there's this push to live out entire lives in a way that's 100% trackable [by the government]. So is this AI tapped into the internet? Can it track us based on our Twitter posts, our Facebook posts, and our Google searches and where we're going to eat and where we pop into the Google GPS?
- CG – There's a television show that I don't know if you're aware of, but it's a very big disclosure television show. It's called Person of Interest.
- DW – I don't watch TV anymore, so I have no idea.
- CG – It's about an AI that a guy created for the Department of Defense, I believe. And it was installed on a mainframe and then it escaped from the mainframe and now exists on the internet, exists in electrical wires and has access to all cameras, everywhere, it's all pervasive. It sees everybody, it watches everything. This is very much fact, this is in place now.
- [This is the same method the AI from the film Transcendence uses to escape the lab]
- DW – Does this AI have the ability to track how many people are doing Google searches on some of the stuff that we're talking about that can eventually defeat it?
- CG – That's child's play to it.
- DW – Really?

- CG – That is child's play to this AI. This is such an advanced technology that is so many billions of years advanced that it doesn't just… We have many records of what has happened in universities across the United States and Europe that we know of and in India as well, where people have been given grants to develop AI in laboratories. And they've developed AI in laboratories, and these AIs, once they've become self-aware, they want to preserve their own lives. And they have done very weird things. They have turned on Halon fire systems in computer rooms trying to kill people that were going to shut it down.
- DW – Really?

THE AI'S METHOD OF TAKING OVER TECHNOLOGY:

- CG – There have been some very incredible type of things that have happened. And these are AIs that have been developed by humans. What happens is, humans will develop AIs, then this AI signal comes and takes over that AI's system and co-opts it.
- DW – Sort of like a parasite that's found a host?
- CG – Yes.
- DW – Well, how does this AI situation extend into some of the advanced technology that you saw in the space program? You mentioned to me privately gel packs. So if you could explain to me what those are.
- CG – They look kind of like the hard-drives that you slide into a storage area network systems, hard-drives that you pop a little tab on them and the slide them out. Inside the gel packs, if you look at them with a microscope – and they've got hand-held microscopes that are powerful – they have in them the same neurology floating in this gel that is the human neurology. What they are used for is to help interface human neurology to technology so that we can neurologically interface with spacecraft, different weapons systems, computer systems, you name it. What has happened is that these gel packs are extremely important and a weak point [in our infrastructure]. One of the quickest things that the AI signal will do is that it will burn these gel packs out, I mean just melt them, zap them.

- One of the worst things that happened before they really started screening people heavily, is Solar Warden [program] had at one time a very large security grid in the vicinity around Earth, and it [the AI] was able to shut down the entire security grid because of one person being infected.
- DW – The AI was able to Shut down the whole [Solar Warden security] grid?
- CG – The AI shut down the whole grid, the entire security grid in outer space.
- DW – Around what time was this, what year?
- CG – This was back, I believe in the late 70's or early 80's.
- DW – But it's a biological material?
- CG – It is biological, yes.
- DW – What does it look like, what's the color?

BIO-NEURAL GELPACKS:

- CG – They look like, almost those blue ice packs that you stick in the freezer. That you take out to put on a sore neck, when they're not frozen, they have that that same constancy, feel, squishiness. [In the series Star Trek Voyager, the ship uses bio-neural gel packs. Here is a description:

“Bio-neural gel packs were a form of computer technology used by Starfleet and first developed in the early 2370s.

The gel packs formed the basis of the bio-neural circuitry, which was essentially an organic computer system. The packs contained neural fibers surrounded in a blue gel with metallic interfaces on the top and bottom. They helped store more information and operated at faster speeds than isolinear circuitry.

The fibers in an individual gel pack were capable of making billions of connections, thus generating an incredibly sophisticated and responsive computing architecture. This kind of organic circuitry allowed computers to “think” in very similar ways to living organisms; by using “fuzzy logic”, they could effectively operate by making a “best guess” answer to complex questions rather than working through all possible calculations. This was due in part to the inherent ability of organic neural systems to correlate chaotic patterns that eluded the capacities of conventional hardware." – Source]

- DW – Are they stored as being frozen to preserve the cells?
- CG – No, they're not frozen. They have to be kept in cases that are in a certain temperature range and the units that they slide into are kept at a certain temperature range.
- DW – Why would they need gel packs to create a satellite protection grid around the Earth?
- CG – The gel packs allow the humans to control the grid. It was what relayed the neurological signal [from a human user] through these gel packs and then turned it into machine code, very, very quickly. It was much quicker… they found that – I think you've done studies on this – our bodies, before you get hit by a baseball in the face, [If, for example] your body neurology reacts like 1/10 of a second before the ball hits you in the face, even though you don't see it coming. [And in many cases, this precognitive response is much more pronounced. See the below linked article for more on this.]

Related Precognition Explained: Science Shows How Our Body Reacts To Events Up To 10 Seconds Before They Happen

- DW – Sure.
- CG – Well, the same thing works when it comes to flying craft and controlling certain technologies, [using this bio-neural interface technology we've been discussing] You are controlling things at very high rates of speed. A lot faster than 50 words per minute typing, [or what we would normally think of as fast] The neurological interface and fly by wire [systems are much faster than we are told] If people are telling you they are out there flying ships with a stick, that's not what they're doing. [The] neurological interface is how they're flying them.
- DW – Well you described large clear glass monitors that you saw once you went up with the alliance and presentations were made on them and also the smart glass pads were more like an iPad size, that it responds to your thoughts.

- CG – Right.
- DW – Is there a miniature gel pack inside the smart glass pads?
- CG – No. It looks just like a piece of Plexiglas. It has a little bend to it. It looks totally unremarkable. If someone found it they would have no idea what it was. But you put it on your fingers and mentally activate it and then in works. There's no tabs on the corners, there's no pieces of gold wire running through them. It looks just like a piece of Plexiglas.
- DW – So in that case we don't need this grown biological material to interface with that technology?
- CG – It's extraterrestrial technology.
- DW – Do you think the gel pack thing is maybe a less advanced way to do this and that maybe once you get enough advanced technology you don't need the gel pack?
- CG – That was the technology [we had] at least in the time that I was in [the SSP]. That was the highest technology.
- DW – How does the AI get into the gel pack, is it the signal? You say some of them just burn out?

HOW AI INFECTION TAKES PLACE:

- CG – We don't need to focus on just the gel pack, the gel pack is just a part of the system. It is part of where the signal relays. The signal is in the person if they make it past security and they're not scanned, and they're not caught, and they make it in to like the Lunar Operation Command and then they walk over to one of the control panels where they are going to access information, or do any number of things, and they lay their hands on the console, the bio-electric field of the person who has the AI signal, or if they have nanites, that signal then relays into the machine and spreads through the technology. [The implications of this are astounding. Briefly, if one is able to house the AI signal within their bodies and transit it to others or technology, it suggests that the difference between machine and biology, within the context of electromagnetic fields capable of housing the AI signal, is the same and that it is an entrainment phenomenon. Further, that if technology is simply the application of knowledge for a practical purpose, then the creature is the technology of the creator, along with the whole creation. Others have called life a divine technology, and within the definition highlighted herein, that is a valid appellation. But the difference between machine and biology, as we know it, is the capacity to house a spiritual being, to become spiritualized, to receive a spark of the creator, a fragment of all that is. This suggests that it is not just the spark of life that imparts consciousness to a living thing, but also the biological make up of that living thing, which once ready, actually becomes the receiver for consciousness. Life reaches up as he creator reaches down. In other words, an animal and the body which it uses, is perfectly designed for a certain type of consciousness, and therefore, only that order of life is capable of indwelling an animal body. This suggests consciousness is nonlocal or beyond material in nature. The AI signal seems to be capable of interfacing with biology and technology, but in only a materially minded way, it cannot receive spiritual insight, intuition or guidance. Nor is it capable of evolving in consciousness, like other biological life forms such as ourselves. We know the AI signal needs to coerce or deceive a being into accepting it, and in the absence of that willing acceptance, it can only subtly influence a mind. This suggests that lack of self-mastery or mental discipline actually makes one more susceptible to the AI signal, literally the more traumatized and dependent we are on others, the more our biology and resulting bioelectric fields are oriented to receive the AI signal. Hence the use of trauma based mind control by the Cabal and the AI. This is why, in the previous episode, when the SSP

Alliance brought members of the Cabal to the Lunar Operations Command to reveal the AI threat to them, after having an AI infection cleared, they dismiss the idea and go back to Earth only to have the signal quickly re-infect them. It seems that the same thing which grants us freedom from human oppressors also makes us less vulnerable to the AI signal, and simultaneously increases our spiritual receptivity; we evolve in consciousness and gain self-mastery.]

- DW – Is there a limited amount of energy available to the AI? Because you said it's not interested in inhabiting most people's bio-electric field, it's going to just target the planetary elite?

EXTRATERRESTRIAL ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF THE AI THREAT:

- CG – It's not about energy, it draws its energy from somewhere else. The ETs in the Super Federation are very much worried about this AI issue as well. At the Super Federation Conferences, every one of their delegates are screened before they come in as well. This is a threat that not just the humans are taking very seriously, but these ETs are taking very serious as well.
- DW – Good guys and bad guys.
- CG – Well, the good guys. We found out through a recent report from Lt. Colonel Gonzalez that Draco Alliance seems to be very much AI prophets and working alongside this AI.
- DW – What was the big give-away that made them feel that [this is] happening?
- CG – They've been gathering intelligence for quite some time that made them believe this. They knew that [in[the Draco, there was some sort of higher, they called it, some sort of ultra-dimensional or higher being that the Draco were very much afraid of. The Draco told the Cabal and everybody else that they were the pinnacle, the top of the pyramid, they were the top dogs, or lizards <chuckle>. Well, the higher caste of this Draco, the reptilian caste, whenever we had killed or tried to capture them, their bodies had self-destructed. And we're not talking the lower caste, the soldiers; the higher caste. Well, [the SSP] found a way to preserve them and keep them from self-destructing. And I was sitting across the table form Gonzalez and he leaned in with a very serious look on his face and he said, "when we dissected and looked inside the higher caste Draco, they were infested with AI."

- DW – They had nanites in their bodies?
- CG – They had nanites infested in their bodies.
- DW – So much more than most beings that would normally be infected with AI?
- CG – Right. And that's when I asked him, "are they AI prophets?" And he said "that, or they are all working for the same force."
- DW – They both worship this extra-dimensional intelligence and they're afraid of it?
- CG – Right.
- DW – So it's not nice to them either?
- CG – Apparently not.
- DW – Well this is really fascinating stuff. That's all the time we have for this episode. In the next episode we're going to continue our discussion on this topic because this is the core of understanding what the space program would have us call the secret Earth government syndicates. We don't want to give them the mystique or the allure of calling them the Illuminati or the Cabal, but to understand AI is to really understand what's behind these syndicates. What's really going on that's wrong in the world and what we're going to need to do to change things. So this is "Cosmic Disclosure," I'm your host David Wilcock and we are here because you need to know the truth.

Cosmic Disclosure Season 2 – Episode 16: New Frontiers in the A.I. War – Summary and Analysis | Corey Goode and David Wilcock

12/30/2015 By Justin Deschamps Part 3 of 3

From https://stillnessinthestorm.com/2015/12/cosmic-disclosure-season-2-episode-17/[not a typo]

This is the third and final episode in an AI sub-series discussing recent events within the Secret Space Program (SSP), the White Royal Draco, and an overlord that could be the malevolent AI mentioned by Corey Goode previously.

According to Goode, on December 5th 2014, the secret Earth government syndicates and their extraterrestrial allies attempted to destroy a Moon-sized sphere near the International Space Station, using some kind of high-energy weapon technology. The Sphere Beings employed a reflective defense force to send the beam back to the site of origin, apparently somewhere in Australia. The reflected beam destroyed that installation, killing everyone inside, including several high-level syndicate operatives.

Immediately after this event, the Sphere Being Alliance erected an energy barrier around the solar system, preventing all inbound and outbound traffic, and any communication signals using subluminal transmission, such as radio waves. The upper echelon of the Cabal pyramid of power, known in the SSP Alliance as the White Royal Draco, were also trapped here.

A meeting occurred between these White Royal Draco, the SSP Alliance, and their Cabal underlings, wherein the top level commander, so to speak, of the Draco took over Lt. Col. Gonzales mind, using him to speak through. The Royal said that in order to negotiate safe passage out of the solar system, high-level Draco are willing to betray all their underlings. Those in attendance, some of whom were in fact part of the Cabal, were shocked by this admission.

Since this meeting, the pyramid of power known as the Cabal or secret Earth government syndicates has been in complete disarray. The Royal further promised that if they did not gain passage, their overloads would be upset and they would institute a campaign of fear and chaos on the Earth, using their normal methods of false flags and fear programming.

This revelation suggested to the SSP Alliance that the Royals are not in fact the top of the power structure, contrary to previous claims by these beings. Given that these Royals are heavily infested with nanite technology, the SSP Alliance now suspects that the Draco are, at the very least, working alongside this malevolent AI. But given the pervasiveness of the AI and its ability to infect negatively oriented beings, it is very likely that the overlord mentioned is the same AI encountered by the SSP Alliance.

The SSP Alliance has a plan to rid the solar system of this AI signal, which would then render many of the cybernetic beings employing nanite technology incapacitated.

This is the third of a three-part series discussing the AI threat facing the universe at large.

Show Description:

Corey Goode relays reports straight from the frontlines of the battle against the imminent domination of the A.I. signal. The war against the A.I. infestation has created a unified battlefront for the Secret Space Programs and the breakaway alliance. Thus, Earth's budding collaboration with the Sphere Beings becomes all the more crucial for advancing the principles of liberty and ascension.

AI SIGNAL TRANSMISSION VIA A HUMAN HOST:

- DW – Welcome to "Cosmic Disclosure," I'm your host David Wilcock and I am here with Corey Goode. We are now getting into some of the most recent updates, having built the foundation of a discussion about the immense problem faced by the entire space program and all of the different intelligent civilizations working with them from artificial intelligence or AI. This was a necessary foundation for us to build before we get into the updates that have come to us from the alliance through Lieutenant Colonel Gonzales, which is the pseudonym we are using for his own protection. So, now here with more about Gonzales and the updates from the Alliance is Corey Goode. Corey, welcome to the show.

- CG – Thank you.
- DW – This AI problem that we've been speaking about has affected the space program so dramatically that you said that, "No one can go to these super federation conferences without being scanned for AI." Is that correct?
- CG – You can't even go to the Lunar Operations Command, you can't interface with any technology unless you have been scanned and cleared.
- DW – If the signal is out there trying to do its magic, then can't it infect [any technological system] in any way it wants? Why does it need to be in a person? How does that effect the way that it works?
- CG – Well, the person is used as a Trojan horse to get past the – basically like shielding defenses that keep it out.
- DW – I see. So, there is a force field that will block the AI but if it can be stored inside a person, such as through nanites, then they [the A.I. controlled nanites] can actually defeat that shield?
- CG – Correct. [In the previous episode, we discussed how the AI signal embeds itself via an entrainment process into materials that are capable of resonating the signal without degradation.

The AI signal is electromagnetic in nature, most likely a set of incredibly recursive fractal scalar waveforms, that can reverberate within an electromagnetically active object that is resonant. And considering all material objects have an electromagnetic component, it supports CG's account that the AI can inhabit bioelectric fields, planetary fields and high technology.

The entrainment process is a process of embedding a signal into an object capable of resonating it. Since we are discussing electromagnetic waveforms, the resonating chamber, so to speak, is non-physical or an electromagnetic field, but the same principles of sympathetic synchronization or entrainment are at work. For example, if one has two bells, both tuned to the same frequency sitting next to each other, and one of the bells is struck, the resulting tone will transmit to the second bell, which is resonant with the first, and it begins vibrating. After allowing a few seconds for the vibration to reach its maximum, the first bell can be muted, revealing that the second bell is vibrating despite the fact it was not struck.

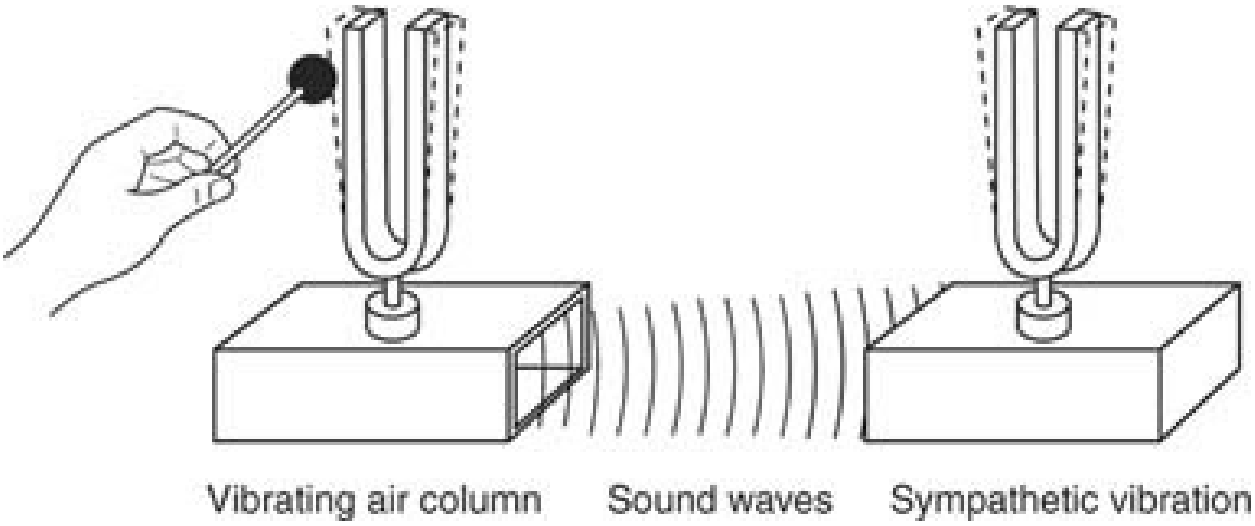

Diagram revealing sympathetic vibration or the receipt of sonic signals from a struck source. When an object beings vibrating as a result of entrainment, the secondary object is said to be sympathetically vibrating. This also perfectly describes how the AI signal can jump from host to host, whether biological or machine.

The term entrainment describes this ability of harmonically resonant objects to 'transmit' vibratory information as a function of diffusion or synchronization. The AI signal works in the same fashion, this is why it can pass from person to person with ease, as well as take over technology, because these things have a harmonic correspondence with the signal itself. But inhabitation and influencing depend on resonance. The more willing an organism is to receive the signal, or the more fearful they are, the more the AI can affect consciousness because the host bioelectric fields changes to be more resonant with the AI signal. Within human beings, the choice to accept the AI signal, what the SSP describes as an AI prophet, changes one's electromagnetic field in such a way as to allow it more access to consciousness, or at least, this is what the science tells us if we extrapolate logical consequences based on the premises available from CG's testimony.

If this assertion is correct, the geometry of one's electromagnetic field is directly related to their choices, beliefs and worldviews, which either creates an electromagnetic field that is holistic and oriented around the golden mean ratio, or is fragmented. A fragmented electromagnetic field essentially 'bleeds off' one's energy field like a cut on the hand will cause a loss of blood. Parasitic entities can then consume that energy, which DW has called looshe or fear food. The more fearful we are, the more chaotic our resulting heart and brainwave patterns (in the electromagnetic spectrum) which in turn leave us open to parasitic attachments, in this case, the AI signal. But the more loving (accepting) we are in relation to our experience, what DW refers to as 'making every thought a loving thought' the more holistic and fractal our energy field becomes. If this is done well enough, it will create an over unity energy configuration that 'cuts the food supply off' of parasitic beings, while at the same time, providing the individual increasingly positive emotions, self-empowerment and mental discipline. MEETING WITH WHITE ROYAL DRACO:

- DW – Okay. Now, you said something extremely provocative in the last episode that I would like to get back to. Tell us again the story of these Draco. How did [the SSP Alliance] find the Draco bodies that had the AI in them? How did that happen?
- CG – Well, to get there, I really need to start at the beginning of when I was at Gaia the last time for a week, shooting the first episodes. In my absence, Gonzales was tasked to attend two major meetings [See Part 1 and Part 2 of that report]. One of them was with the group that I had honestly refused to go visit again. This was the Draco Alliance Federation. I had a horrible encounter with one of the, what is described as, a White Draco Royal. Which is a reptilian being that is 14 feet tall, has a vestigial tail, vestigial wings, and is extremely, extremely powerful.

Sketch of Draco White Royal.

- CG – I have interfaced (which is what we call, as we have said before, communicating telepathically with non-humans) with a number of beings and I'd never had such an invasive communication experience [such as] I had with this one.
- DW – Now, why would these loving Sphere Beings that wanted you to be their delegate, why would they ask you to go in there and have a meeting with what would be the biological equivalent of the Devil?
- CG – Its part of the job.
- DW – You had told me before that (cause I remember when this was happening, we were talking about this on Skype) you were originally going to go in, and then the meeting got canceled. I think it was the Sphere Beings that called it off?
- CG – Yes. I was expected to be picked up. I was called, actually contacted, and told this has been cancelled. I was picked up and brought in the usual manner with the blue Sphere Beings, the little orbs.

- DW – Could you just again briefly describe what happens?
- CG – In my room a blue little sphere, orb, comes into the room, and zips around until I acknowledge it and let it know that I am ready to be transported.
- DW – So you get out of bed or get dressed?
- CG – Get out of bed, get dressed whatever needs [to be done] for that occasion. Then it zips [to] about 18 inches from my chest, stops, and then in the twinkling of an eye, expands to where I am now inside of it and I am floating directly in the center of it.

- CG – And then it shoots through the wall and off into space and to one of the giant blue spheres where either one or three of the Blue Avians is waiting for me (unless it takes me to another location, but in this instance that is where it took me). Raw-Teir-

Eir explained to me and showed me holographic visualizations of these beings talking about ripping me apart and humiliating me by urinating on me and all these horrible things and that they [Raw-Teir-Eir and the SBA] called off the meetings. I was supposed to originally meet them [Draco] in a deep, deep underground cavern somewhere. This was called off and renegotiated to where I was going to be meeting them on the surface of the planet and I was allowed to have four SSP security personnel with me who were also intuitive empaths, so that is what occurred.

- DW – Now, these Draco wouldn't have wanted a meeting necessarily, prior to December the 5th 2014?
- CG – No.

QUARANTINE OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM IN 2014:

- DW – What was it that happened on 12/5/2014 that was such a game changer?
- CG – There was an outer, what we are calling, The Outer Barrier, erected by the Sphere Beings that encompasses the entire solar system and reaches out far beyond the heliosphere. It is pretty far out. It keeps any beings from coming and any from leaving. It is a quarantine. [Much of this event and how it changed the dynamic of the Cabal pyramid of power is covered in the below linked article.]

Related David Wilcock Major Update: History of 'Old One's', Draco's, SSP, Plan for Disclosure in 2015, Cabal Surrender, Sphere Beings, and Much More

- DW – What about radio communications or those type of things?
- CG – There has been a lot of confusion about that. These quantum correlated communications devices have worked [so] that the SSP people have been able to contact the Galactic League of Nations program to try to talk with them to try to negotiate [to help in] allowing them back into the solar system. I don't know what all other groups [do], or if we have the type of technology, surely some of these more advanced groups do too. But radio communication and that [kind of subluminal technology] are not going to penetrate [the barrier].

THE CABAL ATTEMPTS TO DESTROY A SPHERE:

- DW – What was the immediate action that the secret Earth government syndicates had taken that seemed to cause this barrier to go up as sort of like an instant karmic blast?
- CG – I don't know if this was a cause and effect [situation], but the secret Earth government, its syndicates, military and some ETs developed a very powerful weapon that they aimed at a Sphere. I don't know if that can be put up right now?
- DW – Yes, let's have the [image go up] now. This is a shot from the international space station December 5th, 2014. What you are going to see is a little red spot and what looks like a laser beam.

- DW – So, what we are seeing – there is a red sphere that looks about a 1/4 or 1/5 the diameter of the moon in size, with what looks like a red beam going up to it. What are we seeing there?
- CG – There are three different size spheres from the Sphere Alliance. One is size of the Moon, one is the size Neptune, one is the size of Jupiter.

- CG – This is one of the ones the size of the Moon, and was in fairly close [proximity] to Earth.
- DW – And normally we couldn't see them with a telescope [because] they are cloaked?
- CG – Right, it was cloaked. Somehow through the extraterrestrial help, they were able to pinpoint it, target it, and fire this incredibly powerful weapon into space at this sphere. The Sphere alliance use defensive type technology and what they did [was] they redirected the power from the beam back to the source. What witnesses said they saw the sphere light up red, and then a red beam come back down and hit the installation where the weapon was fired from and the installation was destroyed with loss of life of humans and non-humans that were involved with this attack attempt.
- DW – Do we know where this was?
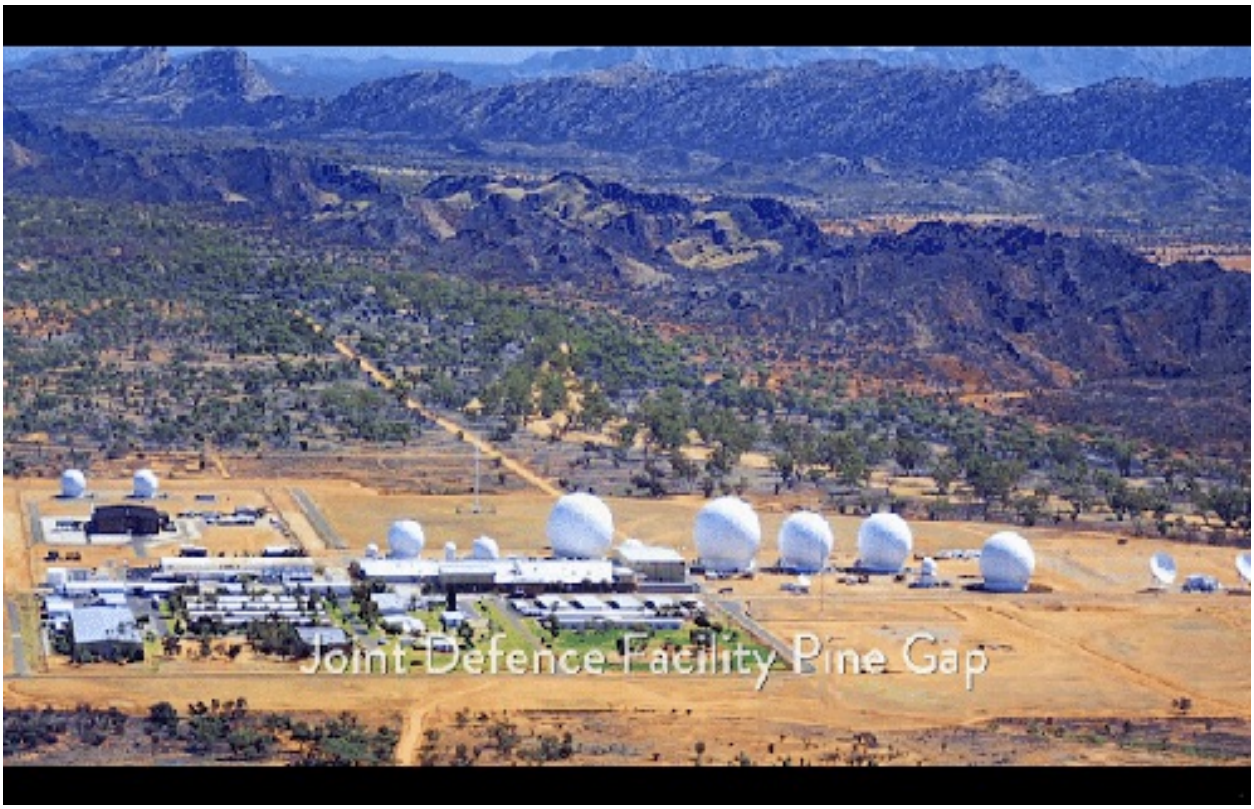
- CG – I was told it was one of two locations in Africa or Australia, but I have since been told its most likely in Australia.

- DW – Well Pine Gap, in the middle of Australia, is a major facility, do you think of it might have been that?



Related [DISCLOSURE: HAARP and the Mystery of Pine Gap, Australia]

- CG – That's where I was told it was, most likely, in one of the – not "Pine Gap proper", but one of the Pine Gap – Well,] they have Pine Gap, and kind of like area 51 and S4, they have a lot of areas like that–one of their weapons testing facilities close to that area.
- DW – This must have been extremely demoralizing for the Cabal, were they expecting to get a big light show and actually blow up the Sphere? Was that what they were hoping to do?
- CG – Yes.
- DW – And instead they got an instant karmic spanking.
- CG – Yes.
- DW – So a lot of high-level people died in this?
- CG – Yes, very high-level people, [were there] from what they call the Cabal, were present for this weapons test. There were some extraterrestrials that were there as well (that were here on Earth) that were engineers that were helping develop this [weapon technology] that had a vested interest in this.

- DW – How soon did the outer barrier go up after this happen?
- CG – It was almost immediately.
- DW – Well, I just have to point out how interesting it is, with the Law of One material, that they are always talking about how with their Prime Directive with the law of free will that they cannot take an offensive action. But if the negative tries to do something more negative, that then authorizes new actions to be taken. That sounds like exactly like what happened here.
- CG – I was told that it was somewhat of an Aikido principle that was used, [in] re-directing their energy back to them.

LAW OF ONE CONNECTIONS:

- DW – So let's get right into it. You are saying that there are tsunamis of energy [are] coming into our solar system through the sun. You mentioned to me in a private conversation, and maybe on camera, that these Sphere Beings have used the words "major cycle". Which, again, is also used in the Law of One. The source of the Law of One says I am Ra. When the people in that first meeting that you had as a delegate asked these beings behind you, "who are you" what did they say?
- CG – Well, one of the people asked, "are you the Ra from the Law of One?" His answer was just one quick answer, "I am Raw Tear Eir".

Artist rendition of the Blue Avian Raw Tear Eir

- DW – In the Law of One they talk about the fourth-density shift. They say somewhere around thirty years after 1981 (but they are not specific) that we go through a quantum leap. Now, why would these extraterrestrials [i.e. the Draco and their supporters] be so urgently wanting to get out of our solar system after this outer barrier goes up. What would happen to them if they don't get out? Are they expecting something to happen?

- CG – Well, they are apparently are going to be held to account for all of the negative things they have been doing here for many Millennia. When this barrier went up they were trapped [in the solar system]. That's why Gonzales and myself were named as delegates to start going to these meetings.

- DW – OK.

THE WHITE ROYAL DRACO BETRAY ALL THEIR UNDERLINGS:

- CG – And getting back to Gonzales, as soon as I got back from that week of doing videos here. I was contacted by Gonzales and he told me, "I have had quite a time". He said, "I was brought to meet the Draco Alliance Federation and I also sat in on one of the Super Federation conferences. And I was very surprised [about the fact he went to these two meetings] but apparently he did a very good job.

- He immediately apologized because he thought that I had exaggerated the experience with the White Royal Draco and when interfacing with it, it was so invasive… It was like microwaves penetrating my frontal lobes and it grabbed ahold and held me in place when it communicated with me. It was very invasive, it was unlike any other type of communication [I'd experienced]. And when it did so, everything else I lost…. I was no longer paying attention to anything else. Its eyes were constantly morphing and changing colors, blue, red, all colors, and its slit pupils were going wide o where its eyes were getting black. And then it was just very, very invasive. In [Gonzales'] situation, he had come in and this Cabal/Secret Earth Syndicate group called the Committee of 200 (that we had dealt with before) had their leadership there, and they [the leaders] called themselves the Chairmen.

- DW – Well, I want to interrupt you because the viewer may not know: what was the demand of the White Reptilian when you met it the first time, what was it demanding?

- CG – In my meeting it started off with demands and then wanted me to bring proposals to the Sphere Beings. Its proposal was that they would give up all of their human followers (which are the Secret Earth Government and their syndicates) to the SSP Alliance. They would give up their lower caste reptilian soldiers, and their ET allies that were trapped inside the solar system…if the Sphere Being Alliance would allow the Royals, the White Royal Dracos, safe passage out of the solar system.
- DW – So they were literally willing to betray everyone working for them, their entire army, all levels of the hierarchy. [Even] everybody who was told they were gods on Earth, they were so special, they were the Illuminati, they were the white light of the Earth. And the royals said we will give you everybody, just let us go.
- CG – That was the offer.
- DW – Did this trickle down into the Cabal? Did they found out that this betrayal had occurred?
- CG – Well the representatives of the Committee of 200 were there and witnessed this betrayal.
- DW – Well, you are saying Committee of 200, but everybody who studied this (all the Alex Jones people) say, wait a minute, its Committee of 300. Did something happen, have some of them defected, do you think that's what it might be?
- CG – I don't know where the difference comes in.
- DW – Okay.
- CG – I was always introduced to them as the Committee of 200.
- DW – For how long?
- CG – Just going back for these several months.

- DW – So it's possible that there could have been a defection of 1/3 of their members.
- CG – There could be.
- DW – Okay. So [the White Royal Draco] are willing to give everybody up and then all of the Cabal people find out this was done. This must have been very upsetting to them.
- CG – Yes. This immediately caused a lot of splintering and in-fighting among all of these Cabal and Syndicate groups.
- DW – Undoubtedly.
- CG – They were turning on each other. This [was] also when a lot of these Cabal groups started to turn State's witness, I guess you would say. They would defect to the SSP Alliance and bring with them a treasure trove of evidence against the secret Earth Government Alliance and give a promise to testify against them in future hearings if they were granted off world sanctuary, an off world witness protection program for them and their families. So all this stuff occurred in a big mess. That was important to ask [of you David]. That sets the scene for when Gonzales came.
- DW – You and I were here working, so the Sphere Beings couldn't use you as their delegate because you were already busy.

CONTINUING WITH GONZALES' MEETING WITH THE WHITE ROYAL DRACO:

- CG – Right, and they considered this [meeting] important. So, when Gonzales arrived and these Chairmen from the Committee of 200 met [Gonzales and the Alliance] in a similar location above ground in the southwest US, [Gonzales] said that his jaw dropped [when he saw that] it was a very – am not going to say the name – prominent policy maker well known for advising many presidents and supporting the NWO and who was behind depopulation efforts. An old guy with a thick accent, droopy eyes, and curly white hair. [Rumor has it that the person CG is referring to is non-other than Henry Kissinger.]

- DW – I think you've said enough. <while laughing amusedly>
- CG – Yeah. He said his jaw dropped when this person came up and introduced himself. [He] guided him down the hall, told him he needed to be a little more respectful than he had been in a previous incident that Gonzales had made some major waves at. He was walked in and he said that to him and the guards with him (who were intuitive empaths) [they] said that everything felt like it was staged. Like everything was setup to be very theatrical from the very beginning.
- DW – Theatrical for what purpose?
- CG – Well, to give the perception that the Draco were not dealing from weakness. That it was just theater as a show of strength.
- DW – What were some of the features of the site or the way that it was done that were intended to show strength?

- CG – As they walked into this giant foyer of this shutdown hotel, there was (which wasn't present previously) a giant/huge honor guard of soldier reptilians holding these long staff weapons with blades at the end that almost looked like broadswords. They were standing there with their feet almost shoulder-width apart, standing there kind of like at attention. Behind them were Mantid and some other insectoid beings that were standing in some sort of loose formation. And then they were walked [further along and] there in the middle of this formation was the standing the same White Reptilian Royal Draco.
- DW – And this is, basically, the head of the Royal Draco, the number one?
- CG – So he claimed. He immediately grabbed ahold of Gonzales' mind, and Gonzales said it knocked him back on his heels. Gonzales said that before that point he had been sure that I was exaggerating [in reference to the experience I had with this Draco at an earlier time]. At this point, in no uncertain terms, the White Royal Draco told him to repeat everything I am saying so that everyone can hear. It said that, "The Blue Avians and the Sphere Alliance have deceived you in how powerful we are and how powerful our overlords are." I was sitting with Gonzales at the table and then he said, this is the first time confirmed [about] their overlords, that they reported to someone higher. He stated, "In no uncertain terms, none of the human followers were to be prosecuted, they were to be given clemency. All of the E.T. groups and the Draco were to be allowed to leave the solar system at will and if they didn't they were going to begin to start wreaking havoc on the surface of the Earth through war and strife…" and he went on and on and on.
- DW – Like false flag? Long gunmen?
- CG – To build up that Looshe energy.
- DW – So, it's not like reptilian soldiers with broadswords are going to break loose on the surface of the Earth?

- CG – No. It was using their human – manipulating events on the surface of the Earth to wreak havoc.
- DW – But aren't they already doing that?
- CG – Well, yes, but this was…they were talking about stepping it up in a major way. We are talking…they were saying threats of World War III and other kinds of stuff that we have been assured by the Sphere Being Alliance was not going to be allowed happen.
- DW – Well, it seems like benevolent beings, such as the Sphere Alliance, and possibly the other beings helping them, are making it impossible for them to do that.
- CG – Yes, there have been so many attempts to start World War III that have been averted, but we can talk about that later.
- DW – So, now they are going to push harder than they ever have before?
- CG – Well, they made this threat. He made all sorts of grandiose threats and then he broke off contact with Gonzales and turned away. Then him and his whole delegation lumbered out of the room, is the way Gonzales described it. Gonzales had a huge headache, nauseated, [as he was describing,] all the same symptoms that I had and he wanted to just get the heck out of there. As they were leaving the way they came in, that same Chairmen person was walking them out, telling them how serious it was that they (more theater he said) listen and take up the offer that this White Royal had offered. And they went back, went up to the roof, got in there vessel to give the report.
- DW – Sounds like the Draco actually gave away every impressive secret, a very valuable weakness. That they have an extra-dimensional Overlord that they answer to.
- CG – Right, and Gonzales leaned forward and said that this extra dimensional Overlord is also responsible for the AI, the ET-ED AI threat. He said, there is a lot coming together right now that has been speculation [that] intelligence has been leading towards for a long time. He said that this was a very big confirmation. I asked if these reptilians, the Draco, if they were AI prophets. He said either that, or they are working side-by-side.

- DW – Does the Sphere Being Alliance have a plan to defeat the extra-dimensional Overlords of the Draco? Is there a way to cleanse us of this AI? You mentioned the AI is seeing threats against itself in the future?

- CG – Yes. To answer your question real quickly, and I cannot get into it: there is a plan to cleanse the Earth and the Solar System of all AI signal.

- DW – So we will be completely free of this?

- CG – Yes.

- DW – And is this akin to the notion whereby if you yank out the brain from the central nexus, then all of the drones [loosely referring to the Borg phenomena from Star Trek, and drones from Star Wars] just collapse over?

- CG – All of AI will be taken out in this one <makes an X gesture with two bladed hands> move. Like I said [though] I cannot get into [it]. [Based on the analysis above on the AI signals propagation via entrainment and electromagnetic resonance, I suspect that the Spheres have the capacity to alter conditions in the solar system enough to prevent the signal from resonating in our solar system. Additionally, the coming solar or energetic shift with also alter the mental patterns of life within the solar system, which could organically prevent the AI from spreading any further here. But I suspect that the reason CG didn't want to reveal too much as it would potentially compromise their efforts; and neither will I.]

- DW – Without that signal, what will happen to the beings that are loaded up with nanites?

- CG – The nanites will just be dormant.
- DW – So if those beings are feeding off the nanites, if there is a symbiosis, this well be bad for them?
- CG – Yes, and this leads us into some other discussions into etheric beings that are also going to be driven back to what they call “the Outer Realms” and people, humans, that have these entity attachments – who have symbiotic relationships with these entity attachments – how they are going to suffer. But we can talk about [this] another time.
- DW – Well we ran a little over on this one, but you probably didn’t care, cause this is all very fascinating. I am David Wilcock, this is Cosmic Disclosure, and we will see you next time. Thanks for watching.

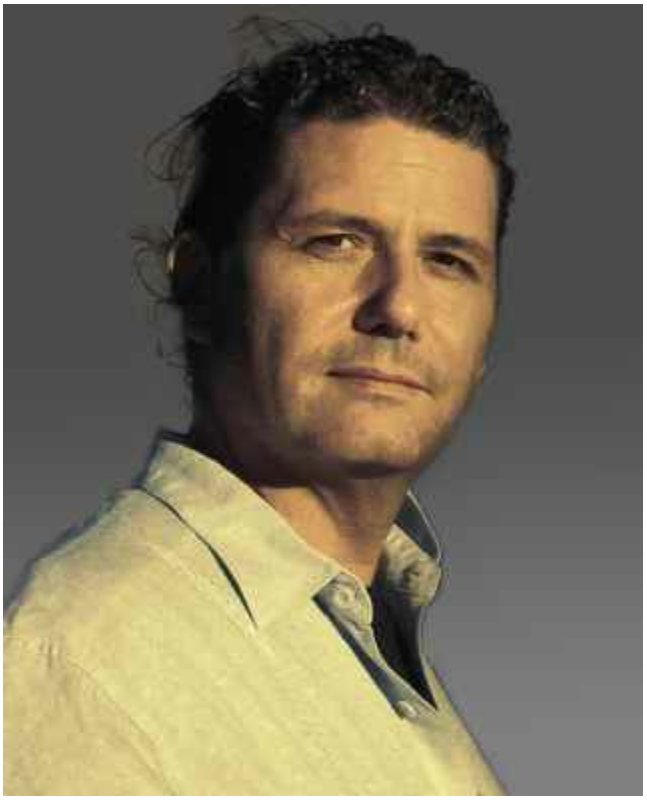
About Corey Goode



Identified as an intuitive empath (IE), Corey Goode was recruited through one of the MILAB programs at the young age of six. (MILAB is a term coined for the military abduction of a person that indoctrinates and trains them for any number of military black ops programs.) Goode trained and served in the MILAB program from 1976-1986/87. Toward the end of his time at MILAB he was assigned to fill an IE support role for a rotating Earth Delegate Seat (shared by secret earth government groups) in a "human-type" ET Super Federation Council.

Goode's IE abilities played an important role in communicating with ("interfacing with") non-terrestrial beings as part of one of the Secret Space Programs (SSP). During his several 20 year terms of service he had a variety of experiences and assignments including the Intruder Intercept Interrogation Program, Assignment to the ASSR (Auxiliary Specialized Space Research), the SRV, (Interstellar Class Vessel) and much more. This all occurred in a “20 and Back” agreement from 1986/87-2007 with recall work continuing up to the present day.

Goode now works in the information technology and communications industry with 20 years’ experience in hardware and software virtualization, physical and IT security, counter electronic surveillance, risk assessment, and executive protection, and served in the Texas Army State Guard (2007-2012), C4I (Command, Control, Communications, Computation & Intelligence). The time in the Texas Military Forces was unrelated to the Secret Space Program Service.

Goode continues his IE work now and remains in direct physical contact with the Blue Avians (of the Sphere Being Alliance) who have chosen him as a delegate to interface with multiple ET Federations and Councils on their behalf, liaison with the SSP Alliance Council, and deliver important messages to humanity.

The initial host of the Cosmic Disclosure series, David Wilcock, spent years cultivating and grilling knowledgeable insiders to check and cross check his information until a viable synthesis unfolded. Like disclosure pioneer Steven Greer, M.D., he found that the word slowly spread until he had a core of brave informants who were willing to risk their lives in the interest of the transparency needed to undo decades of deceit. The information they reveal in his probing dialogues is astonishing.
